

COMMUNITY NEWS

Two of Geelong's oldest not for profits join forces

Bethany and GMHBA have come together to support GMHBA employees through the new GMHBA Employee Assistance Program. The program, to be delivered by Bethany, provides a voluntary confidential counselling service to any employee requiring assistance with issues affecting their wellbeing either personally or in the workplace.

Grant Boyd CEO of Bethany said 'We are delighted to have been selected to provide this service to GMHBA employees. Employee assistance programs are a terrific way for organisations to support their staff and have been shown to improve staff engagement, wellbeing and improve productivity in the workplace.'

Bethany has been providing counselling support to the community for over 40 years. Our counsellors have a broad range of experience and expertise which makes them ideally placed to be able to support GMHBA employees. Counselling assists individuals to explore options, alternatives and solutions to personal and workplace related problems.
