

KNOW YOUR A-Z

Anti-bias curriculum is an approach to early childhood education that embraces values-based principles and methodology in support of respecting differences and acting against bias and unfairness.

Anti-bias teaching requires critical thinking and problem solving by both children and adults. So everyone must get to know their A-Z!

Act to implement an anti-bias curriculum

Build children's capacity to understand and remove bias

Challenge gender bias, cultural bias, disability bias and sexual bias

Demonstrate equality and each acceptance through example

Enquire, notice, observe and change behaviours

Families are diverse and need to feel welcome

Guide children towards acceptance

Have the conversations about your anti-bias approach with children, families and support services

Improve the outcome for children, enable every child to experience success

'Just the way boys are' or 'they are just girls' thinking is not helpful!

Kindness leads to empathy, leads to understanding, leads to fairness

Link to support services for self, children and families

Measure your practice against an anti-bias pedagogy

National Quality Standards demand that each child is supported to feel secure, confident and supported

Opportunity to challenge and change perceptions

Plan and program for an anti-bias approach

Quality programs delivered in a gender neutral environment

Raise your standards to erase bias

Strengthen community understanding of respect and equality

Training and professional development leads to contemporary practice

Utilise partnerships with families and support services

View your program through an anti-bias lense does it stack up?

Wordly views and knowledge of cultures expressed through contemporary programs

X-factor Educate Embrace Diversity

Young children need to learn, grow and develop in an inclusive, bias free program

Zoom in on your environment, practice and program are children, family and staff welcome, support and safe

bethany kindergarten services

CINNAMON

Developed by BKS and based on material developed by the Domestic Violence Resource Centre and Our Watch.